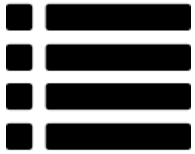
Regional Training Workshop in Asia and the Pacific: Sustainable Development and Disaster Risk Management Using E-Government

Michael Howden
CEO, Sahana Software Foundation
@michaelhowden @SahanaFOSS

Introduction

- Sahana Open Source Disaster Management Platform
- Helps organizations and communities prepare for and respond to disasters
- Started in Sri Lanka after the Indian Ocean Tsunami
- Deployed in over 25 countries
- Used by many different organizations including national and local governments, Red Cross and the UN.

How Does Sahana Help?



Directory of organizations, offices and people to support communication and coordination

Incident management sharing real-time information

Who's Doing What Where (3W) information to identify where there are gaps and overlaps

Records what resources are available and where to support disaster

Brings all information together in a single platform to provide situational awareness.
